

Mr. Raymond LeRoy Williams Jr.

July 1, 1963 - February 11, 2024

Raymond LeRoy Williams, Jr. was born on July 1, 1963, to Norma Ross Williams and the late Raymond LeRoy Williams, Sr. On February 11, 2024, sadly, he departed this life and entered eternal rest with our Lord.

Raymond attended Alexandria City Public Schools, and graduated in June of 1982, as a proud T.C. Williams Titan. After graduation, he went on to further his education at Chowan University in Murfreesboro, North Carolina. He graduated from Chowan University in 1984 with a degree in printing production and imaging technology. He pursued his passion for printing, which he gained from his uncle Norman and after a lifelong career as a printer, Raymond retired from Ernst & Young in 2022.

Raymond or “Doc” as he was affectionately called by friends, was an exceptional athlete. During his high school career as a Titan, he was an incredible basketball player, and an extraordinary football player. His talents caught the attention of several D1 Universities, and he was offered many scholarships to join teams to showcase that talent. Ray was a Chicago Bears fan and was often seen in his Chicago Bears jersey of the NFL Hall of Fame player, Dick Butkus. His love of sports led him to give back to our youth as a football and basketball coach. Ray coached teams within Alexandria and Fairfax County for over 30 years. His love of the game was so deep that his mom would tell the story of how she could get him to sit and watch the football games on TV at age 3, which allowed her to do things around the house without having to worry about him.

While at Chowan, Ray met Linda Whitaker. In July 1988, they married and eventually became parents to Raymond LeRoy Williams III. Ray loved his family. He always had a story to tell about a family member or an event or a fond memory of his childhood. He knew just about all his cousins and loved being a part of a very large family. He loved history, especially the history of his hometown, Alexandria, VA and would share his knowledge whenever he could. Ray was always an optimist. He was always laughing, and talking, and you would never know when he was going through anything negative that life sometimes throws at us. And if anyone really knew Ray, you'd know that his all-time favorite musician is Prince. He would quickly and proudly tell you that he'd take Prince over Michael Jackson and could tell you Prince's catalogue of music like any music historian could.

Ray was a son, a brother, a friend and most importantly a father. He and his son shared a special bond that could never be broken.

Raymond is preceded in death by his father. He leaves to cherish his memory, an adored son, Raymond Williams III, his mother; Norma L. Williams, two sisters; Lisa M. Williams and Tisa Duncan, brother-in-law; Kareem Duncan, two nephews; Orlando R. Williams and Jordan Towler, seven aunts; Shirley A. Smith, Carlotta Parker, Victoria Robinson (Barbara), Marilyn Williams, Juanita Williams, Brenda Armstrong, and Carolyn Harris, four uncles; Cecil J. Ross (Towonda), Eddie Harris, Freddie Harris, and George Washington.

His memory will also be cherished by a host of beloved cousins and cherished friends. Raymond left a lasting impression on all he met, his presence will be missed, but will never be forgotten.

“Hey Ang” The greeting Ray always met me with. Didn’t matter if we were talking about 80’s Hair Bands, Prince, Heart or some other band. Music was Ray’s jam. He was larger than life. The only thing bigger was his heart. Coaching. Being there for friends and family. Turning your frown upside down. His infectious laugh. Always smiling and joking. So proud of his baby boy who is not such a baby anymore. I will miss you so much. My life was so much better for having you in it. My heart goes out to all his family and friends. Rest in peace, Doc. Thank you for being there when I needed you most. I’ll never forget you.
