

Terri Brown

May 20, 1971 - May 26, 2015

Terri “Micki” Michelle Brown, born May 20, 1971, in Alexandria, Virginia to John Brown and Margaret Ann Taylor, who preceded her in death, departed this life on Tuesday, May 26th, surrounded by loved ones.

Micki attended both the Alexandria and Fairfax County public school systems, where she was successfully active in softball and popular amongst her peers. She and her lifelong friend/”partner-in-crime”, Mary Gatlin, were infamous for roaming halls and getting a good laugh out of their friends and classmates(OMNI, OMNI, OMNI, OMNI!!!!). Micki never left her hometown as it was important for her to stay connected to her family and loved ones. She went on to become the hard-working mother, so full of life, joy, and passion that we all grew to know and love tremendously. Her most precious memories will forever be held dear to those left with a vacancy in their hearts as a result of her beautiful transitioning.

To know Micki was to know what it meant to make the most out of life and to have FUN!She could light a room with her infectious smile and light-hearted spirit

(her kept hair, nails, and jewelry were to be noted as well when she arrived “on the scene”). Before taking ill, she could easily be found aboard the ‘Spirit of Washington’ cruise ship either “winding up” with Chuck, or stepping “in the name of love” to the sound of her absolute favorite, R. KELLY!! Micki enjoyed simpler pleasantries as well, such as watching “JEOPARDY!” (even the re-runs) and Tyler Perry movies, bowling, and taking short road trips. She was gifted with hands to do hair. Even though her nieces and sisters would have to literally beg her to do theirs, she would always come through. Also with her hands, Micki was a surprisingly exceptional tambourine player! She could play the instrument like no tomorrow and have one enthusiastically rocking to her beat in no time. Oh, and let’s not forget her infatuation with the almighty mouse; her namesake; MICKEY!!!

The key to her vibrant life was balance. Micki worked much harder than she played, always exhibiting a strong work ethic that would leave her to be held in high regard amongst employers and colleagues alike. She was a devoted worker at Beacon Hill’s ‘Sneaker Stadium’ until its closing, and at ‘Safeway’ until her health complications caused her the inability to do so any longer. She turned two of the things she loved most into provision for herself and her family... Sneakers and Food! Micki loved to sport the latest kicks and she loved to eat good food. It didn't take much to appease her, as she was a woman of simplicity. She also knew the importance of a grounded circle of friends. In her adult years she remained very close to her BFFs, DeSheral Roy and Monica Brown, both of whom she met in her professional endeavors. Once Micki realized that her life was incomplete even with all the love surrounding her, she filled the void by accepting Jesus Christ as her Lord and Savior. She became a member of the 'Church of the Rock Praise Factory' in Capital Heights, MD, under the leadership of Pastor Grant Thompson, affectionately known as "Pastor G". Not long before her departure, she rededicated her life under watch care with Harvest Assembly Baptist Church. Although there is bereavement and sadness, we are consoled by joyous memories. She portrayed many attributes that will leave her to be admired a great deal. She was a genuine soul with a desire to make the most of her short time here on earth.

Left to cherish her memories are her three beautiful children: DeAndre "Scoop", Marquise, and Ambria; eight sisters: Veronica (Arthur), Larriane, Tamara (Johnny), Nina, Anya, Sade, Roxann, and London; two step-sisters: Regina and Anita; four brothers: Larry Jr. (Tanya) Tyrone, Kenny, and Andrew; one step-brother:

Stepfon.

Her loving step-mother Neva; and one granddaughter: J'Kaylah. Her dear nieces and nephews: Dionte, TeShawna (Dexter), Shaquan, Antionae, Anthony, Jamaal, LaWanda, KaMeisha, Christopher, Xavia, Jeavonte, Aliyah, Kobe, Iteria, Rayona, Rayjon; great-nieces and nephews: Jamari, Dionte Jr., Amaya, and Leah; two special sisters: Michele (Lynnise & Tyree), and Leyda (Mia); and her beloved friends: Dawn Carter and Monica Mack. And last but certainly not least, the love of her life: Melvin, and treasured children & grandchildren: Alisha (George, Alijah, Gerimaiah, La'Niyah), Shelby (Edward), Melvon, Martez, Shandra, and Marvel; and a host of other relatives, loved ones and friends.
